November is Manatee Awareness Month

November is Manatee Awareness Month and Miami Seaquarium is making it easy for you to support the efforts of the Sea to Shore Alliance. This organization monitors manatees, so we can better understand them and find ways to better protect these gentle giants. To participate download the donation form, submit the completed form to any Miami Seaquarium ticket booth and for every $4 donation, you'll receive 40% off regular admission!*

Rescue & Rehabilitation

Miami Seaquarium® is committed to wildlife conservation and the rescue, rehabilitation and release of distressed marine mammals. This commitment began even before the park first opened its doors. In July of 1955, the park's conservation work began when Maimie, a 3 week old, 47 pound manatee was rescued after being injured. Learn More

Animal Facts

One of the important animals that live along the Florida coast and in its rivers is the Florida manatee. Manatees are non-aggressive, non-territorial herbivores that spend most of their time feeding (6 - 8 hours a day) and resting (2 - 12 hours a day). The remainder of the day is spent traveling, investigating objects and interacting with other manatees. Manatees do not have "biting" teeth, but they have only "grinding" teeth. Learn More

What You Can Do

At Miami Seaquarium®, we care deeply about doing our utmost to conserve endangered mammals and marine creatures - as reflected in each of our educational programs. Here are some way you can help Manatees and Sea Turtles in South Florida:

- Do what you can to keep your local beaches, rivers and canal clear of trash.
- If you see a Manatee or Sea Turtle in distress contact the FWC Wildlife Alert Hotline, 1-888-404-3922.
- Donate to the Manatee Rehabilitation Partnership
- Donate to the Sea Turtle Conservancy
- Support the Manatee Rehabilitation Partnership by ordering a brick that will be displayed in the pathway in front of our manatee exhibit! Download our Manatee Brick Program brochure

*This offer is only valid for one-day park admission and may not be combined with other discounts or offers. Present this completed form at the Miami Seaquarium ticket booth. Offer expires December 1, 2013.
